Digital Photo Magazine gives Case Logic Luminosity Gold Award

In a recent camera backpack group test in top British photography magazine Digital Photo, the Case Logic DSB-101 Luminosity comes out tops and wins the Digital Photo Gold Award.

The extensive camera backpack test spread over no less than eight pages of the magazine and compared the following bags: Manfrotto Advanced Gear Backpack Large, Tamrac Mirage 6, Loweepro Transit, Nest Athena A81, Benro Cool Walker and the Case Logic DSB-101 Luminosity.

The main features that were looked out for were waist and sternum straps, quick access, external zips, tripod attachment, protected base and a rain cover.

And the winner of the extensive test was the Case Logic DSB-101 Luminosity. Digital Photo says: "The Case Logic DSB-101 is an innovative, well thought-out and deeply impressive backpack. It is a well-designed bag with enough space for a large D-SLR, six lenses and a flash, which is more than enough for most photographers. A top opening gives quick access to your camera. Inside, the bag has a strap to place over the lens, which stops it shifting when you walk."

They continue "There is a 24cm-deep pocket, which is ideal for a tablet. The bag has elasticated sternum straps as well as a cushioned waist belt, which is the ideal configuration. Its concertina compartment dividers are an intelligent solution to the problem of keeping the main compartment modular but easy to organise. It's comfortable, it's sturdy and it's our well-deserved Gold Award winner.
